

To Infinity and Beyond...

Well, I think we are ready. As ready as anyone can be when jumping out of an airplane blindfolded. At least that's what it feels like. Actually our leave date, January 22nd, is approaching more like a wedding day. After so much preparation, we are full of nervous excitement. We know that what lies ahead, much like what lies behind, will be full of both joy and struggles. It is not for us to know what the future holds, but we are committed to following the path that the Lord has set before us, and are grateful to do so surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses.

It has already been roughly 18 months since we joined MAF. A lot has changed since then (see pictures), and we have been so blessed to get to know many of you better during that time. We are overwhelmed by the support that we have already experienced and look forward to continued relationships with each of you.

A Few More Details

Currently we remain a little short on our one-time/start-up fund. Also, although we have reached our initial monthly support goal, costs are continually rising while our support levels will likely drop over time. That said, anyone who has considered supporting our ministry in the past but maybe never got around to it, I can assure you that your gifts are needed and appreciated. Moving forward we crave your prayers for our continued health, adjustment to a new culture, making new friends, and learning the Indonesian language quickly.

Whatchya doin' now?

For now we are putting the finishing touches on packing, making sure we have all our ducks in a row, and saying our goodbyes!

Remember to keep in touch while we are in Indonesia!
